Crime Abatement Workshop Will Be At Seaside High School

A Community Crime Abatement workshop will be held Saturday, August 11, at the Seaside High School, Seaside, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. it was announced recently.

The workshop, under the direction of Dukes & Dukes & Associates, will deal with preventive measures and will enlist the services of all elements of the city.

The Chairman of the Workshop will be Mayor B.J. Dolan. Working with the Mayor will be a member of the California Youth Authority and John Dukes, Dukes & Dukes & Associates.

Members of the Seaside Community Crime Abatement Program include: Rev. J. Lee Milden, Rev. H.H. Lusk, Father Todd Brown, Bishop S.R. Martin, Rev. C.L. McFadden, Anatalio (Tony) Moises, Bernard Miller, Captain Dale Anderson, Seaside Police Department; Miss Regina Battle, Mrs. Mattye Blakeney, Major Samuel Brown (USA-Ret.), Howard Davis, Billy F. De Berry, Miss Marsheila Ann Devan, Rev. Dr. G. Ernest Ellis, Lee Toler, and B.M. Turner.

City Councilman Steve Ross, Resident Manager, pointed out the dire need for such a workshop, and encouraged citizens to participate in the program.

"During the past decade," he said, "inner cities have experienced little overall population growth. Concurrently, there has been a tremendous increase and influx of minorities concentrating in these core cities, while there has been an exodus of the white population to surburban areas. Migration from rural areas (particularly the South), and changes in immigration patterns have contributed significantly to the increase of minorities in the high density, congested inner cities.

"Limited economic opportunities, social and cultural familiarity, and discrimination have led to the creation of ghettos that are characterized by a lack of internal social controls and a strong feeling of isolation and alienation. Neither commonality of race nor nationality assures an immediate sense of personal security nor mutual interdependency. The resident who remains in inner cities exists in close proximity to the new arrivals, yet there seldom develops a sense of togetherness," he said.

Citing the fact that the number of households changes drastically since the newcomers most often have larger families or over-occupy multi-unit dwellings, Councilman Ross stated: "As population density increases, the community's internal mechanisms of social control become further estranged resulting in diminished influence and effectiveness.

Appeal To Halt K-Mart Is Filed

An appeal has been filed with the California Coastal Zone Conservation Commission to prevent Seaside's permit to build the K Mart shopping center near Roberts Lake, it was revealed recently.

Ira Nagel, owner of MBS Department Store, Seaside, filed the appeal with signatures of 47 other residents in the Peninsula area.

The appeal charges the development "is not consistent with the findings and declarations set forth in Sections 27001 and 27302 of the (Coastal Conservation) Act." It further states the approval of the plan subject to the applicant's submission of final traffic control and circulation plans to the staff deprives the public of its opportunity to be heard in opposition to the applicant's solution to the traffic control and circulation problem.

"The approval of the $4,000,000, 11.5 acre commercial center adjacent to Roberts Lake in Seaside, California, is contrary to the findings and declarations of public policy set forth in Sections 27001 and 23702 of the Coastal Conservation Act. The commercial development of the property adjacent to Roberts Lake will deprive the public of a valuable recreation area without any attendant benefit," the appeal said.

It stated that the scale of the commercial center is totally out of harmony with the surrounding area. The proposed development will "dwarf all other developments in the immediate area and will be fully visible to thousands of Monterey Peninsula

Mayor Dolan Named To Central Coastal ZoneCommission

Seaside Mayor Bernard J. Dolan has been elected as representative of Monterey County cities on the Central Coastal Zone Conservation Commission. He will replace Pacific Grove Mayor Robert Quinn.

"The reason I was selected over someone else was because my views closely parallel Mayor Quinn's," Dolan said. "I'm a real strong advocate of home rule for all of our cities. I opposed Proposition 20 (as did Quinn), but I still feel I'm as much a conservationist as anyone on the commission," he added.

California voters approved Proposition 20 last year, resulting in the creation of seven coastal commissions which can review current development proposals while drafting a master plan for the coastline's future.

According to reports, Quinn quit the 16-member commission because of time requirements and frustration over "other commissioner's 'lack of confidence in local governments on coastal development issues."

Dolan said Quinn's

City Council Grants Pay Increase

Salary increases up to 8 and one-half percent for city employees for the 1973-74 fiscal year were granted by the Seaside City Council last Thursday. Resultant cost to the city for the increases will be about $250,000, according to City Manager Dudley Lapham.

Sworn police officers will receive an 8 and one-half percent salary increase. The Seaside Employees Association (miscellaneous personnel) and Local 1218 of the International Association of Fire Fighters received a six percent pay increase, as did non-sworn police department personnel.

During council session, spokesmen for the Employee and Fire Fighter Associations voiced opposition to the six percent figure and reiterated arguments raised during previous "meet and confer" sessions with the city manager over higher increases.

The Employees Association had originally asked for a 15 percent pay increase but whittled that down to the 7 and one-half percent figure presented to the council by President Manuel Avila.

Avila said the Council was "not truly giving an across-the-board salary increase to the city's employees" and that "it was degrading to our positions" for council to deny their request.

Bob Rader, representing the Fire Fighters Association, asked the council for a "no less than 9 percent" increase, a pay differential between truck company captains and platoon captains, a retroactive pay date of July 1 instead of July 28, and longevity pay.

Council granted a two and one-half percent increase for the platoon captains but denied the other requests.

BENEFITS GRANTED

Other benefits granted to all employees were: a salary protection insurance policy with premiums paid by the employees; bereavement leave up to three working days; a new rate for vacation days earned; a position classification and pay plan prepared at the city's expense; uniform allowances; and an annual physical examination provided to all sworn fire fighter and police personnel at the city's expense.

At least an additional five percent will be paid to an employee temporarily filling his supervisor's position while the supervisor's position is vacant. The decision regarding vacancy will be made by the department head and city manager.

INCREASES FOR DEPT. HEADS AND OFFICIALS

The council, following a three-hour closed session at the end of the regular meeting, also granted increases ranging from 6 to 8 and one-half percent to department heads and other high city officials.

Receiving 6 percent were Assistant City Mgr. Harold Soule, whose range will now be $1,318 to $1,602 per month; Fire Chief John Kayser, whose range will be $1,384 to $1,682; and Public Works Director Ted Thoeny, whose range will be $1,563 to $1,900.

Those receiving 7-1/2 percent increase and their new salaries are City Manager Dudley Lapham, $28,487 per year and City Atty. Carey Royster, $1,182.50 per month.

Those receiving 8-1/2 percent increase and their new scales are Police Chief Ben Cooper, $1,526 to $1,854; Planning Director William Burris, $1,286 to $1,563; Finance Director Ralph Scholink, $1,224 to $1,489; Parks and Recreation Director Cleve Williams, $1,166 to $1,418; Building Director George Machado, $1,166 to $1,418

Today's Army NEWS By SSG R. Cardwell ARMY RECRUITER

Hi everyone.

Few people can sing like Roberta Flack. Or write like Elton John. But most love music and find their lives somehow uplifted by it. A good many people have chosen careers in the music field; some as performers or composers, others as instructors. All of these people have at least one thing in common; they have undergone extensive training in their formative years. Many aspiring musicians vie for positions at music onservatories or universities with a music curriculum. Unfortunately, many talented young people just don't have the money to attend these institutions. They know that they want to perform, or teach, but they don't know how to get the training and experience necessary without spending a lot of money. Fortunately, there are a few ways to do it. One of them is in TODAY'S ARMY.

Young men and women who pass the Army's auditions are sent to the Music School in Virginia, where they are taught and trained in every aspect of music. The curriculum provides important courses in theory, composition and arrangement. The kind of things a young musician has to know to grow to full potential. It's a pretty tough schedule, but once a student gets through he or she is a professional, and they can look forward to a chair in one of the 60 Army bands operating in the United States and Overseas.

Twelve young men and two young women enlisted in TODAY'S ARMY during the month of July. Wendy L. Heiser, formerly Wendy L. Detton, 601 3rd Ave., Ft. Ord, enlisted for Dental Specialist School; Kimberly J. Morris, 631 Simpson St., Santa Rosa, enlisted for Telephone Switchboard Operator and chose Europe as her place of duty; Jacky L. Patterson, 401 Jefferson Dr., Ft. Ord, enlisted for the Mechanical Maintenance Field; Albert L. Wahl Jr., 604 Lincoln Ct., Ft. Ord, enlisted for the 101st Airborne Division, 3rd Brigade, Ft. Campbell, KY.; Eddie J. Holley, 1783 Flores St., Seaside, enlisted for the Two-Year Regular Army enlistment option; Winfred A. Massie, 1412 Sonoma Ave., Seaside, enlisted for the Two-Year Regular Army enlistment option; Myron Wyckoff, 3 Mansell Ct., Seaside, also enlisted for the Two-Year enlistment option; Howard Garnett, Yosemite St., Seaside, took advantage of the Two-Year Regular Army program also; Albert A. Mascarenas, 106 1/2 18th St., Pacific Grove, enlisted for the Maintenance Data Specialist School and will report to Europe after school; Charles C. Hof, 1060 Spruance, Monterey, enlisted for the $2500 and has a minimum guarantee of 16 months at Ft. Lewis, WA.; Glenwood Mapp Jr., 1621 Harding St., Seaside, also enlisted for the $2500; Joseph Johnson, 1647 Mendocino St., Seaside, chose the $2500 and Korea as the place to work; Ronald M. Stoop, 3008 Bayer Dr., Marina, enlisted for the US Army Strategic Communications Command as his option; he will serve the first portion of his tour in Korea; Ronald D. Green, 335 Cypress St., Marina, enlisted for Ft. Ord and will work as an Engineer Equipment Repairman with a 12 month guarantee at Ft. Ord.

During the Korean War, General Gard commanded a firing battery of the 145th Field Artillery Battalion in combat.

After attending Harvard University from 1955 to 1957, he joined the faculty of the U.S. Military Academy, where he was an instructor in economics and assistant professor of National Security Policy. In 1960, he returned to Harvard to participate in the Science and Public Policy Program, earning his second graduate degree. After attending the Command and General Staff College at Ft. residents. In fact, the roofline of the proposed development will be 14 feet higher than the nearby Highway 1, thereby seriously interfering with the scenic view," it said.

In the appeal, the appellants contended that if "open space and potentially valuable recreation property is to be used for commercial purposes there should be an overriding public need for additional commercial (commercial) property. The testimony introduced at the public hearing indicated that the Monterey Peninsula was already seriously over-built with commercial shopping centers and businesses. In addition, one additional shoppong center is being considered by the appropriate agencies of the City of Monterey."

resignation was not so much as in frustration but because of "the combined duties of his job as hospital administrator, his mayoral duties and the coastal commission were too much to ask of him, where he's still working for a living."

Dolan, elected by a Monterey County cities mayor selection committee, will serve on the coastal commission until April, 1974.

THE WATERGATE MIND
by Roy Wilkins

NEW YORK - No one can call the characters in the Watergate drama beautiful. But Negro Americans, while having no part in the tossing around of tens of millions of dollars, have less to cheer about than some others.

What might be termed "the Watergate mind," not connected by any hard evidence (as yet) with the so-called Watergate conspiracy, has included Negroes racially in the persecutions incident to the all-demanding task of getting the President re-elected in 1972.

The report is that Charles W. Colson, former special counsel to President Nixon, used his influence improperly. In his zeal to re-elect the President, Colson felt that if black people blocked the main goal, they were to be brushed aside. If their feelings were hurt, if their racial ambitions were blotted out and if their mere presence offended powerful supporters of the President, they must be ousted.

It is alleged that Colson asked the Labor Department (1) not to appoint a black man as regional director in New York, and (2) to "harass" all black unions of construction workers to keep them from competing with white unions.

The nominee for regional director, Clayton J. Cotrell, was appointed by the White House only because Laurence H. Silberman, Undersecretary of Labor, threatened to resign if Cotrell was not named.

When Peter J. Brennan was confirmed as Secretary of Labor, one of his first tasks was the demotion of Cotrell by two grades and removal from the post. The Teamsters' Union was supporting the re-election of Mr. Nixon and hence the pressure on the Labor Department. Colson resigned his White House job early in 1973, and his Washington firm reportedly has been retained by the Teamsters at a six-figure fee.

Colson's reported language on the appointment of Cotrell was blunt. His office was said to have observed: "You can't have this black regional director in New York because the building trades won't stand for it."

Silberman, the Undersecretary, was said to be furious at this effort. He became so firm that the then Attorney General, John N. Mitchell, who had objected to the black director, was quoted as complaining: "Who does he think is running for President of the United States, Richard Nixon or Larry Silberman?" But though Silberman refused to back down and Cotrell's appointment was made, Brennan, the "hardhat" man, removed him.

Donald F. Rodgers, an assistant to Colson, is said to have been equally blunt about all-black unions. "He wanted the department to bring enough action against them so they could put the unions out of business, because they were competing with white unions for construction jobs," was the way one source put it.

Race and color, as in all of U.S. history, appear to have been factors in the holy crusade to re-elect Mr. Nixon in 1972.

For black Americans, the deadly contest is for bread, for shelter, for schools, for life's little cussesses and happiness. For all Americans, the struggle against "the Watergate mind" will determine the kind of country we have.

As I See It

BY MEL VERCOE

Now that John Wilson, the attorney for John Ehrlichman and John Haldeman, has apologized officially, but not personally, to Senator Daniel Inouye for calling him "that little Jap," we can get on with other important business. Wilson says he will apologize personally if and when Inouye apologizes for saying "what a liar" when referring to John Ehrlichman.

One of the more important items this week is the great toilet bowl shortage in America. The American Standard Company makes about a third of all of our toilet bowls, a very worthwhile undertaking any way you look at it, perfectly legal and all that, but for some time their production has been stopped by a strike, probably for better fringe benefits, and the strike may continue for some time.

There is so much building taking place that the remaining toilet bowl production has been unable to keep up with the demand, and whole sections of brand new buildings have to be left vacant until bowls can be installed. Considering the high cost of financing new construction, it would not be feasible to go on putting up buildings that would have to be left vacant for long periods of time for lack of necessary equipment. Thus, in the middle of a building boom, the likes of which the world has never seen, we may have to slow down or else seek alternatives.

A slowdown in building charges, rental and sales profits, construction profits, lumber and hardware sales, etc), so we must find a solution to this problem. Government rationing might be the answer, even though many people naturally are opposed to giving more and more control power to our central government. Toilet bowls could be allotted to various parts of the country on the basis of population growth, actual need, weather conditions, etc. Since the shortage will of course result in skyrocketing prices, some large sections of our nation traditionally poor by nature may simply be unable to meet the costs, and this would require government subsidies or else there would be no choice but to declare such areas official disaster areas so troops could be called in.

C of C Progress Report

It's absolutely amazing what can happen when a community gets together and works together to solve its own problems. When I was up at that Management Seminar in San Jose two weeks ago, one of the instructors was a Chamber of Commerce Manager from a small town in Florida. He said that his town was divided into many small groups when he first came to town. No one thought very much of their city; they were all down on their own community. There was very little industry. No tourism. The young people were all leaving town when they got old enough, because there was no where for them to work.

The major problem in this town in Florida was that no one had pride in their community. And they didn't think that the town could be changed, because they didn't think that anyone cared.

So, this Chamber Manager decided to put on a "Community Forum" in his city. The Board of Directors of the Chamber said that no one would show up at the meeting. The Chamber Manager said he would get 600 people to come and that they would be the leaders of the community. People bet against him, but he got to work and started to advertise the meeting. He sent out special invitations and got the people interested in coming.

Six hundred people showed up at that meeting. They discussed the problems and what should be done to make his town a better place to live. After the meeting the Chamber worked on a list of priorities, and in just three years the entire town has changed.

They now have the largest convention center in the state of Florida. They have an airport and one of their yearly events is a airplane contest and show which brings in lots of money for their town.

They built new motels. They painted and cleaned up the businesses. They planted trees and added new parking areas. The entire outlook of the town changed. They are proud of what they did and are happy that they started to work together to make good things happen in their town.

This "Community Forum" idea made me start thinking. Why couldn't Seaside get together and list priorities and start to solve some of our mutual problems as a group, instead of always going off in different directions.

That is why the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a "Community Forum" in Seaside in September for all the leaders of the churches, the schools, the local and county government, the businessmen, and the citizens, plus all the service clubs and organizations in Seaside.

SEASIDE HEALTH FACILITY?
by Lou Haddad

It has come to the attention of Seaside Post News-Sentinel that the county is considering locating an immunization clinic somewhere in Seaside.

A call placed to the County Administrator, Edwin McCauley confirmed the following: The county budget includes sufficient funds to provide locating a Welfare and Health building in our community. This apparently will replace or support the present facility located in the in the County Courthouse Annex. The reason for this is that many of the people who utilize this facility and its services reside in Seaside. Fine. We won't quibble with that for the time being.

But we would like to issue with the "immunization" clinic. It seems that the county questions the real need for a medical facility which will provide medical services and emergency treatment such as a small 4-bed around-the-clock medical center. We were told that it is county policy to provide those health necessities that private enterprise cannot or will not provide. There seems to be a question as to the need for this type of facility since there are two major hospitals located on the Monterey Peninsula in addition to the new Silas B. Hays Hospital at Ft. Ord. Welfare patients and others receiving public assistance are permitted to solicit the hospital services hwere and the county will pay the bill.

All well and good. But Seaside's problem is one of transportation. Many of our citizens are handicapped in this respect. The buses run intermittently, if at all, and we don't have any assurance that what we do have will still be available in the future.

We've been told that the type of clinic which will be located here will be one which will provide some type of out-patient services. The hours are undetermined at this time, but it is expected that somewhere between the hours of 8 am and probably around 9 or 10 pm is being considered.

If this is the best we can get, so be it. But we don't have to be happy with it. Several years ago, Seaside's mayor approached the Board of Supervisors with the idea of locating a County Hospital Annex on the Monterey Peninsula. He was told that no real need existed or has proven to exist.

Our contention is that one is needed. The County made a mistake when it located the County Courthouse Annex where it is, and this after Seaside officials offered a location in Seaside which had plenty room for expansion. We expect another goof is in the offing. Any expenditure at all which does not include a miniature County Hospital Annex is a terrible waste, ala County Courthouse Annex.

Besides, most of the county revenue which defrays county government costs comes from the Monterey Peninsula. It's high time that some of these taxes come back to those who pay them. If the truth were known, we would vopably learn that the greatest majority of County Hospital benefittees are Salinas Valley residents, mainly because of its proxkmity to the people. We are sure that many more peninsula residents would welcome the opportunity to benefit from that hospitals services if we could get to it.

Maybe it's time to consider seceding and forming our own county on the Monterey Peninsula.

PROJECT INFO

Three weeks ago your Council authorized the Architects to proceed in the preparation of final architectural plans for our new library. Mr. Hugh Taylor, Economic Development Representative for E.D.A., U.S. Department of Commerce was also promptly informed of this action.

On July, 24, 1973, the following correspondence was received from Mr. Taylor:

"As you know from your last years experience, the PWIP Program seeks projects for which the Architectural and Engineering work is already done, or which can be done in time to meet the rigid PWIP bid, construction and completion schedule.

At this stage, you are a potential PWIP applicant. You may or may not be invited to apply. Any expense occured by Seaside will be its own. Any contracts entered into by Seaside will be its own.

If the City is fortunate enough, as I hope it will be, to be invited to apply for a PWIP Grant, your application will be acted upon after the application is filed. If the action by EDA is favorable, you will receive a written Grant Offer from this Agency. The City's acceptance of this offer will ripen it into a contract. The Grant Offer will have line-item expenses and will indicate the portion of each expense that EDA will pay.

It is my fervent hope that Seaside will be invited to apply for a PWIP project. It is also my hope that you and the City will understand the financial risk involved and that we can work together with a minimum of misunderstanding to add to the quality of life in Seaside.

Sincerely,
Hugh Taylor

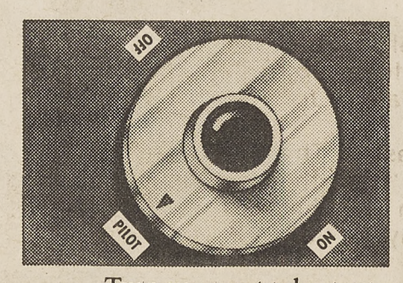
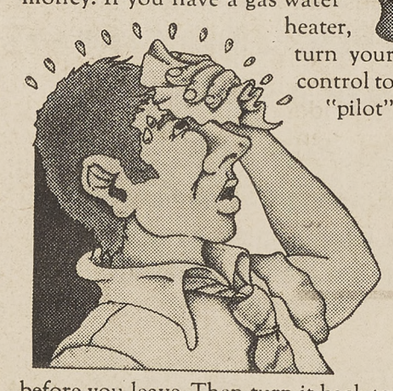
The President has asked for a 5% decrease in energy consumption.

Here are some solid summer tips from PG&E on how you can do your part to conserve energy–and also save yourself money.



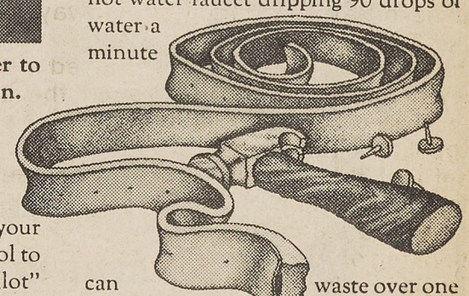
Turn your water heater to "pilot" before you go on vacation. Heating water when you aren't around is a waste of energy and money. If you have a gas water heater, turn your control to "pilot" before you leave. Then turn it back to "on" when you return. You'll have hot water in an hour or so.



Ventilate your attic. An attic fan can lower the temperature in an attic by as much as 50° and help ease the load on your cooling system. You'll have a cooler house for less energy.

Improve your insulation. Proper insulation and weatherstripping can help reduce the energy needed to heat and cool your house by as much as 45%.

Repair leaky faucets. One leaky hot water faucet dripping 90 drops of water a minute can waste over one hundred gallons of hot water in a week's time.



By following these few suggestions this summer you'll help conserve energy and also save money on your PG&E bill. For additional tips, ask any PG&E office for a copy of "The Meter-Minders Guidebook".

Monterey Peninsula Seaside — After Dark —

By Tom Nash

By Tom Nash

Lovely Patricia McGee Rogers, one of our advertising salesgirls, received a call recently, informing her that there was a possibility of getting an ad from a new company opening Monterey.

Pat, as she is fondly referred to in the office, conferred with Linda.Sims, and together they charged out of the office, after leaving me a note as to their whereabouts and went to Monterey. One hour later, Pat and Linda came smiling into the office, bragging about their "big" sale. They had sold a 4 column 5 inch display ad annoincing the "GRAND OPENING SPECIAL" sale at THE ICE HOUSE.

The Ice House was a new business that was planning to open in Monterey, last week, and their sale was on stereos, tape decks, L.P.s and 45s. Low and behold, on Grand Opening Day, the first two people through the door were members of The Federal Bureau of Investigation, armed with warrants for the two owners. One of the owners charged through the back door, where he had his motorcycle stashed, leaped on the motorcycle and headed for parts unknown; the other owner charged through the front door and leaped on his motorcycle and headed in the opposite direction, leaving the store for the FBI.

Pat was unaware of these happenings, and went down to deliver the paper with the ad to her new advertisers, and found the building empty, with five padlocks and three chains across the door. The building was empty, and no one had any information as to where she could contact any person who could help her other than the FBI.

The FBI suggested to Pat that she send the bill to the two advertisers c/o Leavenworth Prison, where they were enroute to. You see this will be their new home for a number of years. They were wanted for interstate transportation of stolen property in nine states. And each of the items "on sale" was so "hot" they were still smoking.

Pat had received her "tip" from an insurance salesman, and now she is not speaking to any persons who sell insurance. It is a very unfortunate situation for Pat for she was depending on that commission to buy her a house, a new car, a new wardrobe, and two diamonds, now she will not even be able to get out of town, for the price of that ad must come out of herpay. So if you see her with that hung out expression, go along with her for she is in misery. And if you know of anyone that is planning to advertise, please call Pat for she needs it.

The City is ranting and raving about the new group appearing at The Fireside. They go under the name of THE SOUNDS OF PERSUASION, a young group with much to their credit.

They have been practicing eight hours a day to perfect their technique and under ideal conditions, they have become the talk of the town. Of course, on opening nite at the Fireside, the group had worked out all the bugs and are now one of the best in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Mooney of Del Rey Oaks celebrated their 25th Silver Wedding Anniversary, Saturday, August 4th, at the Ft. Ord Officers Club. The reception was planned and given to them by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Ken (Margaret) Gajewski, Tenafly, New Jersey; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald (Patricia) Rhea of Monterey; and Cathy and Ed Mooney of Del Rey Oaks.

The afternoon began for the couple with a repetition of their marriage vows, attended by family members and officiated by Father Joe Watt of St. Matthias Mission.

Over 200 attended this festive occasion. The guest list not only contained people from the Monterey Peninsula area but from the San Francisco Bay Area and as far away as New York City.

The happy couple recently enjoyed a second honeymoon by traveling through the orient. They visited such places as Hawaii, Taiwan, Bangkok, Hongkong and Manila.

And just think, most of our marriages last almost 25 days, before we are seeking a divorce and suing for alimony.

Speaking of Alimony, I learned that Old Evil Willy Adams is having a party at the Fireside, Thursday night, celebrating the last payment on his alimony. Oops, I didn't intend to reveal that, for he was trying to keep it a secret. What he didn't know is that I'm like a broken refrigerator, I can't keep anything.

Early Bird Breakfast Opens Fair

"It's not Wednesday this year," said a spokesman for the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, announcing the Early Bird breakfast which opens the Monterey County Fair each year.

Because the Fair has been extended from a 5-day to a 6-day event, this year's breakfast is set for Tuesday, Aug. 14, at 7:30 a.m.

Sponsored by the Chamber, with the cooperation of Fort Ord, the breakfast annually attracts hundreds of county residents who enjoy a pancake breakfast, entertainment, and an early look at the Fair's many exhibits and attractions.

Price of the breakfast is $1.50, and the Hunt Club gate will be opened at 7 a.m. for the breakfasters.

The Fair itself will continue the "Down to Earth" theme which began Monday at the National Horse Show held in the Pattee Arena. The Horse Show concludes Sat., Aug. 11 and the Fair begins Aug. 14-19.

Representations of Greek gods, along with flower-filled urns and waterfalls, will decorate the Fairgrounds in Monterey. Agriculture, horticulture, home economics, crafts, art, photography, floriculture and livestock displays will represent the work and talents of thousands of entrants, and in the area three special attractions will be presented during Fair week: Tony Aguilar's Mexican Rodeo, Aug. 14-15, Polack Bros. Circus, Aug. 16-17, and International Water Ballet, Aug. 18-19.

240-Z To Pace California 500

Mr. Y. Katayama, President of the Nissan Motor Corporation in U.S.A. distributors of Datsun in the U.S. announced recently that the Datsun 240-Z has been selected by Ontario Motor Speedway to be the Official Pace Car for this year's California 500, the third jewel in auto racing's triple crown of 500-milers.

Katayama pointed out that this recent announcement by O.M.S. selecting the Datsun 240-Z as Official Pace Car is the latest honor in a long line of praise bestowed upon the sleek sports/GT car over the past four years.

"The Datsun 240-Z already has a long list of accolades," Katayama stated, "including three SCCA National Championships, two victories in the grueling East African Safari Rally, and three consecutive years selected by the readers of Car & Driver magazine as the "Best Sports/GT Car" in its price catagory." He also mentioned that the 240-Z was selected by Car & Driver readers as the "Best All Around Car" for 1972, unseating the Corvette from an honor it had held for five straight years.

Katayama added that the 240-Z is also a veteran pace car as well.

"In the past, it has paced the NASCAR stars for the 1972 Miller 500, USAC Championship cars for last year's California 500, has been the Official Pace/Safety Car for USAC's stock car division the last two years, and has led the field of SCCA Can-Am cars for the L.A. Times Grand Prix."

Speaking on behalf of O.M.S., Parnelli Jones, president of the new Ontario Motor Speedway Operating Company, welcomed Nissan's participation in the Sept. 2nd event. "The people at Nissan and their Datsun dealers have always been enthusiastic in the sport of auto racing," Jones commented, "and we at O.M.S. no doubt welcome their participation in this year's "California 500," the 3rd Annual Champion Spark Plug Motorcycle Classic, and the 4th Annual NHRA Supernationals." Jones, who won the 1963 Indianapolis 500, will drive the Official Pace Car Datsun 240-Z to start this year's California 500.

PICKED - Y. Katayama, president of Nissan Motor Corporation in U.S.A. (Datsun) presents keys for Datsun 240-Z Official Pace Car to Parnelli Jones, president of Ontario Motor Speedway Operating Company. Jones, who won 1963 Indianapolis 500, will drive 240-Z to start this year's California 500 on September 2.

Operator Of Rest Home Ordered To Show Why She Should Not Lose License

In a precedent setting action, Luise Lehner has been ordered by Judge G. Brooks Ice to appear in San Mateo County Superior Court on Monday, August 13 to show cause why she should not be prevented from operating the Coastside Convalescent Hospital, 1185 Acacia Street, Montara.

State Director of Health Dr. J.M. Stubblebine announced that the Attorney General's office has filed a complaint for injunction at the Department of Health's request to revoke Ms. Lehner's license to operate a nursing home.

It is the first action of this type ever undertaken by the State, Stubblebine declared, pointing out that existing legislation limits the State's powers to revoke the license of a substandard nursing home.

"For five years, the State has tried to close down Ms. Lehner's facility," Stubblebine said. "Part of the problem has been the dilution of responsibility for regulating nursing home quality, with three separate departments conducting parallel and sometimes conflicting programs. The consolidation of the three into a single Department of Health will hopefully eliminate that problem. This action against Coastside marks the beginning of new procedures and a determined policy to upgrade the quality of care in all nursing homes and other health facilities."

Stubblebine said that the first effort to revoke Ms. Lehner's license was undertaken by the Department of Public Health in April, 1967 for a series of violations of the State's Health and Safety Code. Ms. Lehner was cited by Department inspectors for dispensing medications haphazardly, failing to provide proper diets as prescribed, inadequate feeding, falsifying patients' charts, over-sedating patients with tranquilizers, administering unauthorized laxatives, refusing to apply catheters to patients who needed them, failing to provide oxygen required by some patients and not maintaining adequate and proper staff as required by regulation.

The premises were unclean, Stubblebine continued, and Ms. Lehner allowed her dog and cat oo roam freely through the facility, causing sanitation problems. On a number of occasions, the cat was found in bed with patients. Medication was administered to patients in containers that were often unclean, never sterilized.

Following a hearing on charges against her in 1967, Stubblebine continued, the revocation of Ms. Lehner's license was stayed, and she was given three year's probation. One condition stipulated that whe retain no ownership of the hospital, but she was permitted to continue working at Coastside as director of nurses.

It was learned subsequently that as a subterfuge, she had listed her cousin, University of Washington Professor Marie A. Biedenbach, as a general partner, although Ms. Lehner remained the actual owner and retained complete control and management of the facility.

In September, 1968, the Department of Public Health again filed charges against Ms. Lehner, seeking to terminate her probation and revoke her license. The hearing officer in the case proposed that the probation originally imposed to be vacated, that Ms. Lehner's license to operate a nursing home be revoked, but that she be granted a new five-year period of probation.

In May, 1969, Ms. Lehner filed a petition in San Mateo Superior Court to have this decision vacated. In July, 1970, the petition was denied, and early in 1971, the Department of Public Health again filed an accusation against Ms. Lehner, seeking to terminate her probation and revoke her license. In November, 1971, a hearing officer ruled that her license be revoked. That recommendation was adopted by the Department in March, 1972.

At the same time, the Department of Health Care Services suspended Ms. Lehner from participating in Medi-Cal, the state-federal health care program for California's low income population.

The following month, she filed petitions in San Mateo County Superior Court for writs of mandate to set aside the decisions of the two departments to revoke her license and suspend her from the Medi-Cal program. Ms. Lehner's petitions were denied on August 15, 1972.
